 Key strategic partners - Established as a University-based project group in 2008, we were subsequently hosted in a UK Medical Research Council facility before being constituted as a University- affiliated but independent not-for-profit social enterprise. We have key affiliations with academic institutions, including the University of Cambridge, through which we deliver flagship educational courses and actively undertake collaborative research, particularly via senior academic appointments held by our leadership. Our group also holds associate membership of Cambridge University Health Partners. We are also closely allied with specialist organisations, such as Global Open Data for Agriculture and Nutrition as well as the British Dietetic Association, which provides access to Dietetic expertise, overall business support and governance oversight to our operations. In 2018, along with the British Medical Journal (BMJ) Group, we became co-founders of BMJ Nutrition, Prevention and Health.*
